From the Editor

Pete Dean is no stranger to sightings of rare ornithological migrant visitors and can be counted on to assist displaced fledglings accordingly, so when one young swift fell from the nest located in the eaves of his house, he decided to continue to rear it, feeding it on a variety of insects and some cat food! The front cover photograph is taken seconds prior to the bird taking its first free flight from the Recreation Ground, where it successfully joined a swirl of other fledging swifts.

I can hardly believe that it is fifteen years since I walked the West Highland Way but thanks to Mark and Wendy's narrative and photographs of their recent walk, I was able to relive it somewhat. Ray and Carol's epic bike ride sounds like another magnificent challenge achieved, but what about the youth of our community? Is there anyone out there who is doing the Duke of Edinburgh's Award or another stimulating adventure?

News from the Bell Tower

We would like to hear from anyone, at any age, who would like to join us in the Bell Tower for bell ringing practice on a Tuesday evening from 7.30 to 9pm. Beginners are welcome and will be coached by experienced ringers. We ring for church services on request at Maiden Bradley Church but also visit other local churches to experience the different bells and most towers locally have six bells. We socialise with other towers for a Christmas Dinner event and generally have a great time.

If you are interested in joining the Tower or would like to make a curiosity visit, just turn up on practice night.

We would like to report that £900.00 was donated to the Dorothy House Hospice and £1000 to our village church following the funeral of Henry Crabbe, Bell Captain for many years at Maiden Bradley. A commemorative plaque is to be installed in the Tower to mark his devotion to bell ringing and his many contributions to the life of the village.

Churchyard Comeback (Gardening)

Any volunteers are most welcome to join in to maintain the grounds around our Church. Grass cutting, strimming, pruning, weeding paths, tidying etc. We need to keep the grounds looking beautiful surrounding our lovely Church.

If you are interested in helping, please contact: Stephen Buston – 844478 – stephenbuston@hotmail.com

MY SPRING WATCH

Spring in The Rank starts toward the end of March and this year was no exception. The Violet Oil Beetles make an appearance and after an intensive period of mating disappear from view until next spring however the common frog (Rana Temporaria) seems to know exactly where to look for them and two or three of these picture book frogs have spent a lot of time stalking the oil beetles on the front garden of 64 during late March and early April.

We had a family of what may have been Bank Voles however these may have fallen foul to the rising cat population as has the Yellow Necked Field Mouse and neither species have been seen since mid- April maybe they will turn up again next spring again.

Regarding birds; 9th May - Swifts arrived which is the same day as last year.

More Blackbirds this year than last. However no Song Thrushes until this week and three fledglings have been resident on the Nap and have since moved on with a sighting in the back garden of 64.

Cuckoo was heard this year on 11th May and for several days thereafter, which is a recovery from last year when it was quite absent.

The lone Red Kite evident over head in the early part of the year seems to have a mate and has reared two or three fledglings which have been seen above the fields flanking Bradley Lane at silage harvest time having flying training but being harassed by Rooks and Crows and a single Buzzard. The Red Kites have appeared to have withdrawn I guess discretion being the better part of valour.

Greater Spotted Woodpecker with 2 fledglings have discovered the peanuts and have been down most days.

Legend has it that there are three species of Sparrow - House, Hedge and Tree. The House Sparrow (Domesticus) and the Hedge Sparrow (Dunnock) are in abundance this year with successful broods being produced. However, the Tree Sparrow I think is a myth having watched and been satisfied that none of these birds have appeared in The Rank however maybe further afield. Swifts again have occupied 7 nesting sites between 66 and 63 The Rank hopefully they will have a good breeding season. However, one casualty a young Swift fell out of its nest and is being reared by Peter Dean who is feeding it on flies and other live foodstuff under the guidance of the RSPB this little chap has been named Taylor and has been ringed.

Saturday 12th September 2015
- between 10.00 am and 6.00 pm -
in aid of Wiltshire Historic Churches Trust

We live in an ideal county for Riding or Striding. In big towns like Salisbury, Swindon, Chippenham or Trowbridge you can visit several churches in a short space of time; or you can opt for tranquil side-roads that take you through beautiful countryside to picturesque villages with the church standing proudly at the centre.

In 2014 over £58,000 was raised by enthusiastic participants with ages ranging from 4 to 86. The more energetic covered over 60 miles and 40 churches, but those who just walked from their own church to a neighbouring one made an equally valuable contribution.

How about joining in this year on Saturday 12th September? You don't have to be a Wiggins or a Grylls: plan a route that suits your energy level, have a nice day out with family or friends, and raise some money for your own church and for the Wiltshire Historic Churches Trust, to enable it to continue offering grants to churches in need of repair.

35% of adults own a bicycle. If 35% of Wiltshire church-goers pumped up their tyres, recruited a few sponsors (the other 65%?) and joined the Ride+Stride adventure, our churches would in one single day benefit from a huge financial boost. No bicycle? Walking between one church and another constitutes participation in Ride+Stride, and most sponsors are generous enough to reward even the shortest of journeys.

Prizes

Wiltshire is one of the few counties to offer prizes for successful Riders and Striders. Thanks to the generosity of Lord Brooke of Sutton Mandeville, there are two trophies:

The Brooke Cup and £500 goes to the best all-round parish with runner-up prizes of £100 and £50.

A Junior Group Cup, plus £100, is awarded to the parish with the most successful group of under 18's (£50 to the runner-up).

In addition cash prizes are awarded to the best achieving cyclists and walkers from different age groups.

Further details and sponsorship forms are available from:

POPPY APPEAL COORDINATOR for Maiden Bradley

Sarah Neish has kindly agreed to take over from me as the coordinator of the Royal British Legion's Poppy Appeal here in Maiden Bradley. Sarah has been a serving officer herself. I have often written to thank you so much for supporting each year's Appeal. I would like to take one last opportunity to say it again! An amazing village full of exceedingly generous people, generous of time and effort, who work very hard to support those in need of a helping hand.

News From the Hall

Our Memorial garden is in full bloom and is drawing a lot of compliments on how it has lifted that part of the High Street. It's all down to the work of one or two who put a lot of time and effort into it.

If you would like to have a plaque on one of the logs please contact Mel Thomas or any other committee member.

26 people sat down to a Fish & Chip lunch, which was cooked in and served from the new kitchen. This proved to be a great success.

We also had another weekend of Cream Teams, again well supported on the Saturday but the weather on the Sunday was not conducive to Cream Teas, watch out for the boards, for future dates.

Along with the teas we started to show the BBC documentary "Sailing" which was filmed whilst Wid Graham was HMS Ark Royal's captain.

Don't forget to get your entries in for the Produce show on the 22nd August. If you're not entering anything, then come along and support the organizers, who will have put a great deal of time and effort into it.

We shall also be drawing the Summer Draw tickets, prizes include, £250 Holiday Voucher, £100.00, DAB radio and a very special bottle of Vodka, plus more. Tickets are on sale in the shop and from any committee member.

Over the Bank holiday weekend 29th, 30th & 31st we have our first Maiden Bradley Art Festival, 10.00 am-4.00 pm each day. Exhibiting will be several of the village's artists, please come along and see their artwork.

We'll be showing "The 2nd Best Marigold Hotel" on Saturday 15th August, come along and enjoy a very good night out just for a FIVER

The Memorial Hall AGM will be held on Monday 14th September at 7.30 pm all are welcome. Any members of the community who would like to join the committee should contact Mel Thomas, before this date.

Mel Thomas - Chairman

Welcome Club

Our June trip took us to Exmouth, once again in brilliant weather. We stopped for coffee at the Oak Tea Rooms at Monkton, a comparatively recent addition to our schedule and a good one! We arrived at Exmouth at midday and set about hunting out suitable lunch venues, after which the Land Train proved popular and an ideal way to look around. Our driver took us to Sidmouth for afternoon tea and from there back on the coach where we headed to the Eagle Inn, a nightcap, the raffle and home!

The planned quiz on 16th July became some games of bingo, enjoyed by all, hopefully, and lots of prizes were won.

We visited Lynmouth in July, this involved a very hairy drive up Porlock Hill (better up than down). We had some wonderful views of Exmoor and marvelled at the huge numbers of sheep there. Lynmouth proved to be a pretty spot and we had good times looking around. Our return journey took us back over parts of Exmoor to the Pipers Pub at Ashcott for much needed refreshments, the raffle of course, and back home.

There will not be a hall meeting in August but we will have a trip on 25th August, destination Windsor, so do join us!

If you would like to help support your Village Hall, please get in contact with John Priestner on 844244 who has some spare numbers. Only 50p per number per month, you can have more than one number. Half the draw's income goes to the Village Hall and half goes in prizes.

The West Highland Way – A journey to remember

We set out on Saturday 11th from Milngavie (Pronounced Mul-guy) into a slightly dreary typical Scottish summer's day, the trail was clearly marked and there were a good number of walkers around. Quite quickly the promise of the Highlands could be seen, with teases of the hills and distant views of the Mountains to come. A stop at the pub for lunch and feet out for a much needed airing was welcomed. We ended the first day at Kip in the Kirk, Drymen; a fabulous bunkhouse and soon met a band of fellow walkers for a pub supper.

Day 2 we headed towards Conic hill, our first climb, with the trepidation of heavy rain over the Loch ahead and new friend Thymen from Holland. I prayed it would pass us by for the climb but as soon as we started the ascent we were in a zero visibility rain belt. We trudged to the top with forced grins. After a small detour to the summit of the hill, we were blessed with a tease of a view over the Loch and the promise of blue skies of which we were duly rewarded with a panoramic view of the Long Loch Lomond. Another lunch stop of gorgeous toasties and we pressed on to Rowardennan and a stunning old Lodge on the shores of Loch Lomond as the venue of our stay at the Youth Hostel.

Day 3, led us along the shores of Loch Lomond, which seemed to last forever, a real scramble over rocky outcrops and over large tree roots, climbing ladders and boulders with midges to pester every stop for a boot lace, or a rummage in the backpack. We pushed on to Inversnaid and took a long detour to the most gorgeous Bunkhouse in a converted Chapel to take lunch under cover from the wee Midges. We were rewarded with a top class lunch and my first try of Haggis, Neeps & Tatties with a sumptuous whiskey cream sauce. Pushing on over the scramble that is the shores of the Loch we found ourselves on a secluded beach (see photo attached), the wind had dropped and the sun appeared making for a magical retreat where we rested and recharged our batteries.

Day 4, After a fabulous & favourite stay at Beinglas farm, in a very basic little wooden wigwam and a feed of hearty curry and a few beers the night before, we set off for Tyndrum, through a beautiful wide valley overlooking The Munros of Crainlarich ; Ben More & Stob Binnein (1165m). Emotions were running high as we walked through this stunning and awe inspiring land. A real sense of how big & beautiful this world is filled us both. We stopped for coffee at a small campsite in the valley and made friends with a plucky little Female Chaffinch who took shortbread crumbs from Wendy's boot, while this could happen in any city park somehow the connection felt different out here in Scotland's wilderness. We arrived tired at Tyndrum where we stayed in a wee Hobbit house (wooden barrel cabin).

Day 5 – The big day, 20 miles from Tyndrum to Kingshouse, over Rannoch Moor. We had prayed for good weather for this day as it is the most exposed section of the way and I really didn't want to spend 9 hours walking in the wind and rain. Thank fully we were rewarded with a light breeze and blue skies. We started early and had the trail to ourselves, meeting beautiful, gentle yet huge Highland cattle along the way, continuing over the picturesque Bridge of Orchy and onto Rannoch Moor. Here the only sound was the wind and the crunch of our boots on the path could be heard. Britain's largest wilderness is magical place and it almost feels like an intrusion to be there. I wanted to hover so as not to make any noise. Our feet ached and the painkillers came out finally we saw the welcome site of the Kingshouse hotel at the head of Glen Coe under the majesty of my favourite brute of a Munro, Buachaille Etive Mor. The night ended with music, dancing & possibly too much Malt Whiskey with fellow walkers in the bar of the Kingshouse hotel.

Day 6 – A shorter day and through Glen Coe, the site of the Massacre of the MacDonald clan which took place in 1692. The Glen still seems to hold the air of battle within it and being my 4th visit to what is my favourite wild place in Scotland I still sense the emotions in the hills around us. Coming over the Moor yesterday and seeing Buachaille Etive Mor, made me feel like I was marching into battle, the heart rate rises, the step increases. I almost hear cries of battle ready Highlanders. Today we climb to the Devils staircase where at the summit (and highest point of the way at 1850ft) we are rewarded with the most stunning views and we believe to be a glimpse of Ben Nevis in the distance. We descend after soaking in the summit for almost 2 hours, my head now thankfully clearing of the night before. Into Kinlochleven, the site of a redundant Aluminium smelter and it's dramatic hydro plant running cutting alien like through the green of the valley and another hearty pub meal with new friends ended with more singing together in the hostel before bed.

Day 7 – Our last day and despite the 80 miles covered so far our morning was spent trying not to feel sad that it was the last day. We had made so many good friends along the way, shared many stories of our day's walks and the sites and feelings we experienced. It felt like we had become a community of walkers, a band of Brothers of the wilderness. We headed towards the base of Britain's highest Mountain after our last hearty Full Scottish Breakfast! And into one of the only days of rain we had over all 7 days. Determined to stay in my shorts we pressed on to be rewarded with spine tingling views of Ben Nevis, "with his hat on" (shrouded in cloud at the summit) as one of our fellow 'waylanders' commented. Coming into Fort William, cars passed us by and the return to civilisation was unwanted and intrusive to the peace we had found in the hills for 7 days. This feeling soon subsided when we reached the town and shared elated celebration of completing the walk with each other and many of the band of walkers we had met on the way. The night ended in the wee small hours after much conversation, refreshments and dancing with our merry 'Waylander' friends.

The way had been more than a walk, much more, a journey into the wilderness, a retreat into our own selves, time to think, time to be. Time that will never be forgotten.

Day 8 - The Ben! Waking with thick heads was maybe not the best way to start an accent on Britain's highest mountain but the celebrations of the night before were not regretful. The weather forecast was mixed, with stories of 60mph winds, -10c summit conditions mixed with, it might clear up this afternoon!? We stayed in bed a while longer and left just after 11, stocking up on Butter tablet, Shortbread and other Highland sweets from a charity stall in town to keep us going along with a flask of coffee and all our winter gear ready for the summit. It rained on and off and we saw more people coming down the mountain soaked and cold and looking very downbeat than those going up. Progress was slow and steady. Visibility was poor. After several hours of climbing we reached the ravine towards the Lochan and was met with the strongest winds I have ever experienced, the wind was moving our feet as we lifted them to take the next step. We pushed on to the Lochan and stopped to put our next layer of clothing on under our waterproofs. Reports from those descending were not good and the wind was apparently worse as you climbed. Being pushed around by this torrent of a force was scary, and alone with no guide we made the difficult decision, and the right decision to head back.

Continued from pg. 8 - We are not experienced Mountaineers and the Mountain will always be there. Wendy was bitterly disappointed but as I reminded her, this only means we have to come back to Scotland again very soon to try for the summit, our spirits lifted a little and the Nevis Inn was a welcome site as we came back to the Glen, a couple of pints of Scottish brew left us both feeling a whole lot better. We both agreed we will be back.

Our trip was self-funded and done without support of a guide or group. We started alone, just the 2 of us but ended with so many new friends. The way is well marked and the terrain and distance while challenging at times it achievable to anyone with good fitness and sound boots.

Both Wendy and myself would like to thank everyone who has sponsored us, our 3 charities;

Positive action on Cancer, Mama Upendo & Crohns & Colitis UK. If you would like to sponsor you can find forms in the village pub & shop or go online at Virgin money giving and search for Mark Lucas-Phillips, or follow the link below;

Cycling Down the Danube - Ray & Carol Kenzie

Cycling Down the Danube -

For our cycling holiday this year we cycled 600 miles down the Danube from its source in Germany to Vienna in Austria. The cycle route is part of Eurovelo route 6 which goes from St Nazaire on the Atlantic coast, all the way to the estuary of the Danube on the Black Sea.

The part we completed last year down the Loire in France and the part down the Danube in Germany and Austria are the most popular and most well supported by excellent signage, dedicated well surfaced cycle paths and cyclist tourist infrastructure.

The key word on our cycle trips is “down” and our route started at 700 metres above sea level in Donaueschingen and finished at about 200 metres in Vienna (with a few small “blips” in between).

The scenery varied from quiet paths along the small river and adjacent fields at the beginning, then rocky gorges and beautiful towns and cathedral cities and finally to the majestic river sweeping past vineyards and wooded slopes dotted with castles and monasteries before arriving in Vienna, one of the most beautiful cities in Europe. As is often the case in Europe (unlike the UK), the cycle paths were almost always traffic free and finished in perfectly smooth tarmac.

This year we “cheated” slightly and took the bikes on the car to the start, then cycled in four day stints followed by a “rest” day when I would catch a train back to the last stop to retrieve the car ... and so on. This meant that we only needed to carry clothes for four days and could fill the boot up with dirty washing instead of carrying it in our panniers!

We have tried to give a flavour of our trip in the attached photos but if anyone is interested in a similar holiday we will be pleased to share our experiences.

Ray & Carol Kenzie

Recipe

Quick Salad Dressing

1 oz butter
1 oz flour
¼ pint milk
¼ pint water
½ teaspoon dried basil
Salt and pepper
1 egg yolk
2 tbsp fresh lemon juice

Melt the butter in a saucepan, stir in the flour and cook for one minute. Gradually mix in the milk and water and bring to the boil stirring continuously.

Stir in the basil and seasoning and remove from the heat.

Beat the egg yolk and lemon juice together and add 2 tablespoons of the hot sauce, mix and then add to the rest of the sauce, returning the pan to the heat, stirring continuously and not allowing the mixture to boil.

Leave to cool before dressing the salad.

Parish Council 14th July 2015

Recreation Consultation

Parishioners are asked if they can take time to complete the enclosed consultation paper and return in the SAE provided. The Parish Council is reviewing the needs for Maiden Bradley Community. This consultation is aimed at finding out what these are in Maiden Bradley for the next 15 years. It is hoped that parishioners being party to the process of formulating the future plans for the parish will mean the Community obtains its full potential use of its rural area.

It must though be accepted that resources of the Parish Council are limited both financially and in people power. Many proposals may require funding which will need to be sought through grants. However much can be achieved by local residents working together to start new projects or maintain existing so your thoughts may help improve the quality of life enjoyed in the parish for the future generations.

Rights of Way

The Parish Council is seeking volunteers to report back any issues found along the Rights of Ways within the parish. If you regularly walk these and wish to help in this project please contact your local Councillor or the Parish Clerk. Contact details are listed below:

If any Parishioner sees or is aware of anything which they feel needs attention in and around the parish highways, they are requested to contact Wiltshire Council land line number 0300 456 0105. Or use the Wiltshire Council App that can be downloaded.

Items for the next Agenda – Recreational Area consultation replies, receipt of second Precept Payment, ½ yearly Budget check and Quality Scheme final documentation approval.

Date of the next meeting- The Council agreed that Tuesday 8th September 2015 would be the date of the next Parish Council meeting. As always, the Parish Council meeting will be open at the start with an opportunity for members of the public to ask questions or make comments on any matter. The web site Southwilts.com (Maiden Bradley) can be accessed to read a copy of the Agenda and Minutes electronically or copies are displayed on the Community Notice Board at the village shop. Sarah Jeffries can be contacted by email: maidenbradley@virginmedia.com or phone: 01985 213436 Parish Clerk 9 Beech Grove Warminster BA12 0AB

Ready, set, go!

The great British summer is here.

The sun is out and the days are longer, it's the perfect opportunity to get active, pick up a new hobby and support your local community while enjoying the great outdoors. At Volunteer Centre Wiltshire we can help you find that perfect opportunity you are looking for this summer.

Do you like bikes? Would you like to meet new people who also share your passion? The Bike Workshop from Julian House Wiltshire are looking for volunteers to help out within their growing social enterprise project.

Summer school holidays? Volunteer with Splash and engage with young people through dance workshops, art sessions, wildlife projects, extreme sports, and food projects. Splash Projects are run at various venues throughout Wiltshire and take place throughout the School Holidays.

How about helping others enjoy the summer? CTSW need volunteer drivers to transport people with limited mobility. You can make a real difference in someone's life this summer, don't miss your chance to do something outstanding.

If you are interested in any of these opportunities or would like to know what else is out there waiting for you, don't hesitate to call us on 0845 521 6224 or email us on volunteer@developecs.org.uk.

Volunteer Centre Wiltshire is run by DEVELOP, for more information visit our website www.volunteercentrewiltshire.org.uk, registered charity number 1096008.
